Maj. Gen. P. G. D. M.
Major General, U. S. A.,
Commanding
Upon its return from Normandy on 19 July 1944, this Division was located in the Nottingham-Leicester-Market Harborough area. There it remained and trained until its participation in Operation 'MARKET' on 17 September 1944. Twenty-four hours prior to take-off, all airborne elements of the Division were closed at seven airfields in the Grantham-Otterthorpe-Langer area. Briefings were conducted, loading plans formulated, all final checks made, and the Division took off for the Netherlands commencing at 170950 September 1944.

The mission of the Division in this operation was as follows:

"Land by parachute and glider commencing 'D' Day South of Mijmegen; seize and hold the highway bridges across the Maas River at Grave and the Veal River at Mijmegen; seize, organize, and hold the high ground between Mijmegen and Groesbeek; deny the roads in the Division area to the enemy; and dominate the area bounded North by line running from Beek West through Eindhoven Southwest to Nimwegen, South by River Maas and the Lookout-Heilbron highway, East by Cleve-Mijmegen Highway and Forest Reichswald, and West by line running North and South through Nimwegen."

The first lift consisted of:

Total: 482 50

All units dropped as planned except two serials of the 505 Parachute Infantry. A mixup in marshalling caused the 2d Battalion serial to drop before the 3d Battalion serial, and as a consequence the 2d Battalion serial was dropped two thousand yards northeast of its scheduled drop zone.

The entire flight was preceded by a pathfinder team, which landed on 06-10 ten minutes prior to the arrival of the first elements of the main body, with the exception in the 505 Parachute Infantry indicated above, all units landed on the drop zones, or in the immediate vicinity thereof, on schedule. Flak enroute was spotty and light. Flak coming from the "D" was initially heavy but inaccurate. The first paratroopers to land destroyed all flak crews and took over their weapons. Enemy dispositions along the Maas-Vaal Canal in the vicinity of all bridges and in the wooded country around the Mijmegen heights and in the Reichswald were, as anticipated, well organized and of about a strength of eight battalions. Increasing fire continued to come from the edges of the drop zones throughout all of the landings until overcome. Enemy reaction was prompt and appeared to follow a definite pattern. All local troops were committed immediately in pieces meal fashion. Nearby "homeguard" type troops were thrown in as quickly as they could be rushed to the operational area. This close meal build up increased until a coordinated attack was made by the German 6th Para Division on D+4.
Local enemy units were initially overcome and destroyed, or, except for those in the city of Nijmegen proper, they dispersed in the first several hours after landing. A day by day summary of the activities of each unit of the Division follows:

D-Day, 17 September

Division parachute elements in four hundred and eighty-two C-47's and a serial of fifty gliders left airports in the area of Grantham, England, between 0950 and 1040. All serials except those of 504 Parachute Infantry landed North, East, and South of Groesbeek, Holland, between 1250 and 1400. The 504 Parachute Infantry landed West of the Maas-Waal Canal and north of the Maas River. All drop patterns were excellent. Personnel and equipment losses enroute and during the drop were light, and assembly was the best in the history of the Division.

Headquarters and Headquarters Company 824 3 Division
Parachute elements dropped 1905, glider elements landed 1350 on zone South of Groesbeek, moved North through woods, and established Division Command Post at predesignated location 1000 yards West of Groesbeek at 1700.

505 Parachute Infantry
Dropped after the Pathfinders at 1300, seized Groesbeek, occupied its area of defensive responsibility from Aamp Southeast to Hook, cleared its area of enemy, and contacted 504 Parachute Infantry at the Maas-Waal Canal bridge near Heumen. All initial missions were accomplished by 2000.

504 Parachute Infantry
Dropped beginning 1315 West of the Maas-Waal Canal on three drop zones, two North and one South of the Maas River. One battalion dropped Northeast of Overasselt and at 1600, after overcoming strong enemy resistance, captured intact the Maas-Waal Canal bridge at Heumen. The sites of the Canal bridges near Blankenberg and Hatert, both of which had been destroyed by the enemy upon the approach of the battalion, were captured before dark. One battalion dropped West of Overasselt, blocked all Southward movement along the Grave-Nijmegen Highway, and cleared the enemy from the Western portion of the Division area. One battalion dropped one rifle company South of the Maas at Grave and the balance of the battalion North of the river and West of Overasselt. Both forces moved against the bridge at Grave immediately. Surprise was complete and the bridge captured at 1430. The town of Grave was occupied at 2300 after having been abandoned by 400 enemy. All initial missions of 504 were accomplished by 0130.

508 Parachute Infantry
Dropped North of Groesbeek at 1326. Based on a report from the Dutch that the town and bridges were lightly held, immediately moved into Nijmegen to take the Waal River bridges. At 2000 the regiment encountered strong enemy resistance about 400 yards from the highway bridge and was stopped. The regiment occupied the area immediately East of the Maas-Waal Canal and established road blocks to prevent enemy movement South of a line running East and West through Hatert. One company moved to clear the glider landing zone Northeast of Groesbeek and met considerable enemy resistance. One battalion, less a company, occupied the important high ground in the vicinity of Berg on Dal without too heavy an opposition. One company advanced on the Nijmegen Bridges from the Southeast and at 2400 had reached Hill 64.4 Northeast of Ubbergen. All initial missions of 508 were accomplished by 0230.
376 Parachute Field Artillery Battalion
Dropped 1935 on drop zone South of Groesbeck, assembled the battalion with ten howitzers, and displaced 1000 yards to the position area. The battalion, initially in support of 505 Parachute Infantry, fired its first mission on call from the regiment at 1800.

307 1/3 Engineer Battalion
Companies B, C, and D, all parachute, dropped South of Groesbeck at 1320. Companies B and D furnished cover on route march to elements of Division Headquarters and protected Division Command Post when it was established at 1745. Company C moved out to contact 504 Parachute Infantry West of Maas-Waalk Canal.

Battery A, 30th Antiaircraft Battalion
Eight 57mm AT guns allotted as follows: Two, 505 Parachute Infantry; Two, 503 Parachute Infantry; Two, 504 Parachute Infantry upon making contact; Two, Division reserve in vicinity of Division Command Post.

2 PLUS 1, 18 SEPTEMBER

504 Parachute Infantry
Continued to hold the Maas River bridge at Grave and the Maas-Waalk canal bridge at Heumen. Vigorous patrolling was continued on the West and Northwest of the regimental area along the Groes-Nijmegen highway. At 1200 one platoon moved North along the West bank of the Maas-Waalk Canal and assisted in the capture of the bridge on the Groes-Nijmegen highway near Honinghutie.

505 Parachute Infantry
Maintained its area of defensive responsibility: repelled enemy attacks at Horst, Groeswegn, and Pasterest; captured an enemy patrol trying to work its way North to the Maas-Waalk bridge at Heumen; and captured a train attempting to escape into Germany. At 1240 the regiment attacked and cleared the glider landing zone South and Southeast of Groesbeck.

506 Parachute Infantry
Withdrawn battalion in Nijmegen and attacked to clear the glider landing zone Northeast and East of Groesbeck. The attack crossed the scheduled line of departure at 1310, completely surprised the enemy, and the landing area was swept by 1400. Sixteen antiaircraft guns and 149 prisoners of war were captured. Maintained its defensive sector throughout the 18th. At 151200 a platoon, with the assistance of 504 Parachute Infantry which advanced up the Maas-Waalk Canal from the West, captured the Maas-Waalk canal bridge at Honinghutie. Regiment held the high ground vicinity Berg en Dael throughout the 18th against enemy patrols and sporadic enemy artillery action. One company moved into Nijmegen at C900, advanced to the same spot to which the regiment had reached on the 17th, fought against a strong enemy force through the entire day, and at 1500 was withdrawn into the sector near Berg en Dael.

SCHÜTZER FLAMMFEUER
Between 1000 and 1100 a lift of 450 gliders carrying an antitank battery of the 80th Antiaircraft Battalion, 319 Glider Field Artillery Battalion, 390 Glider Field Artillery Battalion, 456 Parachute Field Artillery Battalion, and 397 Airborne Medical Company departed from fields in the United Kingdom and flew the same route as the lift of the previous day. Gliders landed in zones cleared by the 505 Parachute Infantry and 508 Parachute Infantry in the vicinity of Groesbeek. Several gliders overshot the landing zone and landed beyond the Dutch-German border, but a substantial number of personnel made their way back to the Division area. The overall glider recovery was very satisfactory. After landing and assembling, 319 Glider Field Artillery Battalion was put in direct support of 508 Parachute Infantry, 456 Parachute Field Artillery Battalion in direct support of 505 Parachute Infantry, and 320 Glider Field Artillery Battalion in general support of the Division.

Remainder

Following the glider lift by 20 minutes, a flight of 135 B-24 bombers dropped resupply on drop zone South of Groesbeek. Drop pattern was good. Recovery was estimated to be at 80%.

 Guards Armored Division reached Grave and the 504 Parachute Infantry at 0300.

506 Parachute Infantry Regiment, less 2d company left to guard the bridge at Grave, one company left to guard each of the Nijmegen Canal bridges at Lemmer, and one company left to patrol and guard the highway from Grave to the Nijmegen Canal, was moved East of the Nijmegen Canal, relieved 3d Battalion 508 Parachute Infantry, and occupied the Jonkerbosch Woods. 5d Battalion was moved to vicinity of Alden as Division reserve.

505 Parachute Infantry Regiment, less 2d Battalion, maintained its sector of responsibility on the South of the Division area throughout the 19th.

2d Battalion 505 Parachute Infantry Attached to Guards Armored Division at 191000 and moved North to assault the Nijmegen bridges. The battalion reached the edge of Nijmegen without incident and, in moving through the outskirts of the town, received only artillery fire. When the battalion reached the center of the town, one company supported by seven tanks turned Northwest and moved against the railroad bridge. The balance of the battalion, the remainder of the tanks of the 2d Battalion Grenadier Guards, and one company of British armored Infantry advanced against the highway bridge. The assault was stopped at the Maria Plein, about 400 yards South of the bridge. Violent engagement lasting throughout the evening and night of the 19th failed to break the strong enemy defensive arc, and at midnight activity consisted of patrolling into the strong point and mortaring it from the cemetery South of the friendly positions.
